

Sarcomere of contracted muscle

The pattern of banding of a sarcomere is caused by the pattern of protein filaments of which it is made up. To show this clearly only a few filaments are illustrated. There are two types of filament - actin and myosin. Where more filaments are overlapping bands appear darker.

click to re-stretch by contraction of antagonistic muscles, gravity etc

